

Building Inspector Lane said that before they could prosecute a person for possessing a sign, they must prove that it was one of the City's signs. He further said he would donate a stamp set so that they could mark all their signs and then be able to prove they belonged to the City.

He also emphasized the fact that it was a criminal offense to remove any safety sign, and conviction of this offense could lead to a prison sentence.

With no further business, on a motion by Charles Cooper, seconded by Danny Hayes, the Board voted to adjourn.
